CITY NOTES.

The prohibitionists will hold their regular weekly meeting at Conservatory hall this evening.

There will be a regular meeting of the board of health in the municipal building at 7 o'clock Friday, Dec. 7, 1894.

In the matter of the assignment of W. W. Watkins, Attorney H. M. Muholland was yesterday appointed an auditor by the court.

R. Ernest Comings has sold to Joseph Shorten one of the Kerrigan lots in the thirteen hundred block on Pittman avenue, upon which Mr. Shorten will erect a house for himself.

Burglars were discovered at an early hour yesterday morning trying to effect an entrance into the boarding house of Miss Early, 28 Spruce street. They fled down Franklin avenue.

Select council will meet tonight. Previous to the meeting the streets and bridges committee will consider Mayor Connell's appointment of David Penman, as bridge inspector, and Mr. Dunn's resolution providing for additional bridge inspectors.

The Delaware and Hudson Canal company paid its employees at the Oliphant and Eddy Creek cuttings yesterday. Today the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company will pay its workmen at the machine shops and Storrs mines.

The following officers have been elected by Peter Williamson lodge, Free and Accepted Masons: Worshipful master and representative to grand lodge, F. L. Brown; senior warden, Edward Evans; junior warden, W. S. Diehl; treasurer, J. Lydon; secretary, C. L. Van Buskirk.

This evening the Young People of the Penn Avenue Baptist church will give an entertainment in the church parlors, assisted by the Lawrence orchestra of this city and Miss Susie Black, of Nicholson. The admission will be any price that will be of use to Miss Krigbaum, the city missionary, in her work.

The Mount Zion Primitive Methodist church of the Pine and Archbald settled to the court yesterday for a charter. The subscribers to the articles of incorporation are: Isaac E. Evans, William D. Davis, Stephen Nash, Samuel Pinnock, William Preswood, Richard H. Gaynor, David Lloyd, Jr., and John Froude.

David Jones and Margaret J. Llewellyn, both of this city, were yesterday granted a marriage license by Clerk of the Courts Thomas and were immediately afterward married by Alderman Wright in the clerk's office. Peter J. Duggan, of this city, and Mary T. Biglin, of Dunmore, were also granted a marriage license.

Papers in the equity suit of W. H. Withers against W. C. Von Blarcom, David Spruiks, Lewis J. Siebeck and the Crescent Coal company, were filed yesterday. The plaintiff seeks to recover twenty-four shares of the company capital stock and compel the defendants to pay in $10,000 as capital stock.

M. D. Walker, of Green Ridge, who died a short time ago, was a member of Upchurch lodge, No. 222, Ancient Order of United Workmen. Last night, through W. F. Loftus, recorder of Upchurch lodge, Mrs. Walker was paid $1,000, the amount of the life insurance policy held by her husband in the United Workmen.

Anthony Loughney, a brakeman on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, who had his fingers crushed at Great Bend on Tuesday, underwent an operation at the Moses Taylor hospital yesterday and had the end of his index finger and his middle finger amputated. He was reported to be in a favorable condition last night.

At the regular meeting of Lackawanna council, No. 118, Royal Arcanum, last evening the following officers were elected: Regent, George Howell; vice regent, Thomas Cosgrove; orator, Howell Harris; secretary, A. LINDEN STREET BRIDGE.

Bids for the Superstructure Will Be Opened Tonight.

At tonight's meeting of select council bids for building the superstructure, or iron work, of the Linden street bridge will be opened. For several weeks bridge concerns in at least five different states have been unusually active in preparing bids and it is expected that the opening of the proposals will develop many close competitions.

A new and quick method has been adopted for awarding the contract. A recent resolution of council provides that the bids shall be referred to the joint street and bridges committee, which will inform the mayor when it has decided upon the award. The mayor will then call a joint session of council to confirm or amend the committee's action. The resolution also provides that bids shall be mailed from the postoffice nearest the works of the company submitting a bid.

The purpose of the resolution is twofold. It prevents collusion among the bidders and hastens the award by having it considered in joint committee and joint council session.

DOWN ON THE TRAMPS.

Some Are Sent to Jail and Others to Be Placed on the Chain Gang.

Fifteen tramps who slept at the police station Tuesday night were detained yesterday morning by order of Chief Simpson and informed that their attendance would be necessary at the mayor's court. They were arranged before Alderman Fuller, who inquired as to their objects and purposes in the city. Clement Holburn and Edward S. Temple were each sent to the county jail for thirty days, the latter being a regular attendant at the police station and frequently inebriated. Those who were able to satisfy the alderman that they were searching for employment were discharged upon promising to leave the city.

Eleven prisoners, however, were ordered to be placed on the chain gang, which will be in working order today.

GIVEN A SOLDIER'S BURIAL.

Remains of Thomas Morris Interred in Forest Hill Cemetery.

A coffin wrapped in an American flag was lowered into a new made grave in the soldiers' plot in Forest Hill cemetery yesterday afternoon and services by Rev. M. D. Fuller, the grave was closed and a defender of the union left to sleep his eternal sleep.

His name was Thomas Morris and during the war he served in both the infantry and cavalry. Monday he died at the Hillside Home, but left no relation in the world so far as could be learned. Though not a member of the Grand Army of the Republic the members of Griffin post, of this city, took charge of the remains and gave them an appropriate soldier's burial, members of the post acting as pall-bearers.

The deceased was during a portion of the time he served in the Union army a member of the same company as Architect F. J. Amaden. The latter yesterday acted as one of the pall-bearers.

PAID FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Views of Mayor Connell, Councilman Finn and Chief Perber.

ORDINANCE BEING PREPARED.

Mr. Finn Says It Will Be Presented to Council During the Present Month. Changes That May Be Made in Location of Companies.

It is probable that Mr. Finn's ordinance providing for a paid fire department and the abolishing of the present volunteer system from the beginning of the fiscal year 1895, which means April 1 next, will be ready to present to select council tonight. The outline of the proposed innovation published exclusively in yesterday's Tribune was a surprise to many councilmen and city officials and has tended to hasten the efforts of the advocates of the change.

The substance of the ordinance has been completed and Chief Perber will today confer with Mr. Finn in reference to details. Other leading councilmen and city officials will be present at the conference and the immediate disposition of the matter will depend upon their deliberations. The main question at issue is that of expense. If it is decided today that a competent paid department can be maintained at a cost of not more than $10,000 to $15,000 above the expenses of the present service, the change will be urged with vigor.

Some Minor Arguments.

Several arguments are presented by the advocates of the new system which are upon extraneous matters, but have a bearing upon expense and go far toward proving that the cost of a paid system will be comparatively small. For instance: Reference is made to the 510 volunteer firemen who are expected from city, school and poor rates. In the event of a paid department the taxes paid by the 510 men into the city treasury would make a good sized sum. It is further argued that business men at present do not escape solicitations of money and goods in aid of firemen's balls, fairs, picnics and rallies. While this seems a small matter when compared to the aggregate cost of a paid department it is argued that each company secures of its own effort each year an average of $1,000, a total of $16,000 for the sixteen companies.

What Mayor Connell Says.

Mayor Connell said to a Tribune reporter yesterday: "On account of my recent illness Mr. Finn was unable to obtain any definite views from me. We had several conferences upon the matter and finally made an appointment for going deeper into the subject and considering particularly the necessary appropriations for a paid fire department."

"I feel perfectly free to say, however, that I would like to see Scranton enjoying the benefits of a paid fire service. By this I do not mean to belittle the present efficiency of our volunteer system, for it is admitted to be as perfect as possible; but a paid department is more easily managed and permits of a greater degree of usefulness. Even if a paid department costs $9,000 or $10,000 more to maintain than our present system, the outlay would be more than saved in fire losses. I shall advocate and support Mr. Finn's ordinance if the increased outlay is not too great to be consistent with the benefits accruing from it."

Mr. Finn would not divulge the details of the ordinance but made the assertion that according to its provisions, the proposed paid department will not require a greater expenditure than the present system. He said the assessment to the present plan two companies will be taken from the North End, two from the South Side and possibly one from the West Side.

"Although," said Mr. Finn, "this number may be reduced, it is proposed to add one or more of them to the central city. Several lines of street crossing to prevent a definite consideration of the matter and I do not think the ordinance will be presented in select council tonight, but the subject will not be dropped. The ordinance will be presented sometime during the present month."

From a Fireman's Standpoint.

Chief of the Fire Department Perber is firm in his advocacy of the change and claims that the cost will scarcely exceed the present expenditure. From purely a fireman's standpoint he said: "It is not an easy matter to maintain discipline or guide the affairs of a volunteer fire department, particularly a department as large as Scranton's. The city is large and growing and different companies in different sections of the city have as many local and local interests. I have no criticisms to make in relation to the obedience of the men collectively or individually, but it stands in reason that proper management is impeded when with authority, even, attempts to properly control men who have a right to control themselves. As a volunteer department it is as good as it can be but a paid department is better."

"In case of a paid department there would be no public whistle and bell alarms. The alarms would be sounded only in the company quarters and homes of firemen who would then be enabled to arrive at the scene of a fire in advance of a crowd, which would have no opportunity of hampering the work. Nowadays the crowd is one of the most serious obstacles we have to contend with."

Would Keep in Training.

"Men paid to fight fire, must fight fire. That would be their only business and they would keep in constant training and practice for it. Discipline would be possible to the greatest degree. It is my opinion that if councilmen will make an investigation of the matter they will arrive at the conclusion that a paid fire department will aid materially toward a better and greater Scranton."

IN COURT ROOM NO. 2.

Cows Not Within the Jurisdiction of Quarter Sessions Court.

"Quarter session court was not organized for the purpose of finding out if cows are gentle and well bred, and the justice of the peace who sent this case here should be compelled to pay the costs," said Judge Gunster in court room No. 2 yesterday afternoon. He was commenting on the case of Thomas Garrigal, who was charged by Mrs. Bridget Burke with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Mrs. Burke resided at Dunmore. She negotiated with Garrigal for the purchase of a cow he was the owner of and was assured that the animal was quiet, well behaved and sound in every particular. Mrs. Burke was the owner of the cow but a short time when she discovered that it was far from being what it was represented to be, and had Garrigal arrested and bound over to appear at court.

Attorney Joseph O'Brien, who appeared for the prosecution, said he did not think a conviction could be secured under the indictment and suggested that a verdict of not guilty be taken and the costs placed on the county.

It Would Be Idle.

"It would be idle to go to trial on such an indictment," declared Judge Gunster. "The costs will have to be placed on the county, though the justice of peace who sent the case here is the person who should pay them." A verdict of not guilty was taken and the costs placed on the county.

In the case of Mrs. Lizzie Stiles, of Carbondale, charged by Mrs. Annie E. Mann with keeping a bawdy house, a verdict of not guilty was returned and the defendant directed to pay two-thirds of the costs and the prosecution one-third.

Robert Jones pleaded guilty to a charge of defrauding boarding house keepers preferred by Nicholas Jenkins, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $1, costs and spend ten days in county jail. Charles White, who was convicted Tuesday of assault and battery, was arraigned again yesterday to answer charges of assault and battery and aggravated assault and battery. Patrolman John Duggan and Chief of Police Simpson were the prosecutors. They did not appear against the case, which was called and verdict of not guilty were taken. The county will pay the costs.

John Phillips Convicted.

John Phillips, of the South Side, was tried for having assaulted and battered George Albright and Peter Walsh. He was convicted in both cases. "Squire J. R. Lesh, of Newton, appeared as prosecutor against Judge Rosenkrantz, who was charged with having maliciously torn down a line fence between their properties. Mr. Rosenkrantz said he took down the fence for the purpose of rebuilding it on the right line. The verdict was not guilty and "Squire Lesh was directed to pay the costs."

When court adjourned for the day William Morris, of Taylor, was on trial for assault and battery. Edwin Allen was the prosecutor. His 8-year-old daughter is the alleged victim of Morris' assault.

TO CROSS, OR NOT TO CROSS.

Testimony Taken in Injunction Cases Yesterday with a View to Solving That Question.

Testimony was taken by Court Stenographer H. H. Coston yesterday in the case of ex-Judge W. H. Jessup in the injunction cases of the Scranton and Pittston Traction company against the Delaware and Hudson Canal company and the Delaware and Hudson Canal company against the Scranton and Pittston Traction company. Lieutenant Governor L. A. Wooten and Attorney General L. A. Wooten represented the Traction company and ex-Judge Jessup the railroad company.

The objects of the injunctions is to determine whether or not the Traction company has the right to cross the tracks of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company at grade in two places in Moosic.

H. H. Archer testified that between Moosic and Pittston there are seven grade crossings on the line of the electric road similar to those it is desired to establish at Moosic. W. H. Hollister, W. R. Manners, M. W. Loftus, James Butler, Martin Judge and F. J. Glover said that overhead bridges such as the Delaware and Hudson Canal company wants the Traction company to cross its tracks on it would be a damage to adjacent property and an injury to the town of Moosic. A. B. Dunning, Jr., president of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company, testified that the proposed grade crossings would be dangerous and would be a hindrance to the business of the town of Moosic.

That closed the evidence on the part of the Traction company and Superintendent C. R. Manville was called on behalf of the Delaware and Hudson company. He said that the proposed grade crossings would be dangerous and would be a hindrance to the business of the town of Moosic.

Several lines of street crossing to prevent a definite consideration of the matter and I do not think the ordinance will be presented in select council tonight, but the subject will not be dropped. The ordinance will be presented sometime during the present month."
